This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. "CONVENIT ILLA MIHI, CONVENIT ILLA TIBI."

Ovid.

THE MELBOURNE PUBLIC LIBRARY was founded in the month of July, 1853. The building was commenced in the same month, and by progressive enlargements has reached its present dimensions, at an expenditure of £83,300. The Library proper consists of three chambers on the first floor, not separated from each other by partitions or doors, viz.: a central apartment, 50 feet by 50 feet, and one at each side, 95 by 50, giving a Reading Room 240 feet long by 50 feet wide, and 30 feet high. In this the books are arranged in open compartments, formed by walls which project 12 feet from the main walls. Each compartment is capable of containing about 2000 volumes. A clear space of 24 feet is left in the centre, and a gallery, raised 13 feet from the ground, runs round the whole of the interior, giving further accommodation for several thousand volumes. Provision is made to secure abundant light and sufficient ventilation by day and night.

The number of Books, Pamphlets, etc., on the shelves at the last enumeration exceeded 71,000, and £53,135 8s. 8d. has been expended in the purchase of those bought. The remainder, the titles of which are included in the present volume, consist of Donations, viz.:—

Volumes of Printed Books ... 15,030

Together with Parts and Pamphlets, Newspapers, Single Sheets, Maps, Charts, Plans, Elevations of Buildings, Music, Photographs, and Original Manuscripts, many of which possess rare interest.

A contribution so extensive, so valuable, and so generously bestowed, bearing so large a proportion to the books otherwise acquired, has suggested the advisability of printing a separate Catalogue, confined to these gifts; and the occasion affords an opportunity of rendering to the donors this public acknowledgment of the gratitude of the Trustees, in addition to that already more particularly expressed.

Of these Donations, many are of the highest order of literary and scientific merit; many of a class and of an expensive character, which the resources at the command of the Trustees would not have enabled them to purchase. For such the public have been indebted to the munificence of Her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen, and the Sovereigns of several of the states of Europe, as well as to the comity of several departments of the Government of the United Kingdom and of Foreign countries, the liberality of many Literary and Scientific Societies and of private individuals, as well as to the courteous and assiduous intermediation of the Consuls of the different countries.

The Emperor of the French enriched the collection with presents of a most varied and important character, amounting in the whole to 301 volumes.

The Emperor of Russia also has extended his generosity to the Library.

The King of Prussia presented, with other books of peculiar interest, a copy of Lepsius' great work on Egypt, in twelve volumes of the largest size; these were accompanied with most encouraging promises of further aid by Dr. Pertz, Librarian of the Royal Library of Berlin, which have been liberally fulfilled, the total contributed being 110 volumes.

The late King of Denmark, through the medium of the Librarian of the Royal Library of Copenhagen, also bestowed 86 volumes.

The King of Italy intrusted to his Consul here, a handsome gift, and subsequent presentations, making in all 43 volumes, which indicate substantially His Majesty's sympathy for the Library.

The Belgian Government have furnished a series of historic records from the earliest periods, as also miscellaneous and statistical contributions of a most comprehensive character, included in 197 volumes, parts, and pamphlets.

The Imperial Geographical and Geological Societies of Austria forwarded, at the instance of the late venerable Haidinger, a large body of scientific productions of great practical usefulness, in addition to that formerly given by those and by other Societies in Vienna. The Royal Society of Northern Antiquaries of Denmark has, through the instrumentality of the distinguished historian Rafn, sent from Copenhagen a rare and curious set of Chronicles connected with the history of the nations of the north of Europe, including a complete series of Icelandic Sagas, in 45 volumes, compiled and published under the supervision of the Arnæan Magnæan Society, and the auspices of the Danish Government.

These form a collection of 121 volumes. To the University of Copenhagen as well as to numerous others of the learned Societies and Libraries of Europe, the Trustees owe their thanks for help cordially given to this Library.

From the United States of America contributions have reached the Library, highly prized as yielding information on the progress of mining, the conduct of agriculture, and other topics.

The assistance afforded by the British Government has admitted of the expansion of certain branches of civil history, polity, and political science, the deficient condition of which in the Library had been felt by the public. The Lords of the Treasury, obligingly moved by Mr. Peel, gave their sanction to an application addressed to them; and the War-office, the Board of Ordnance, and the Admiralty, furnished an extensive supply of military and naval history, surveys, maps, and charts, with which branches of information the Library had been till then imperfectly provided.

The Commissioners of Patents have given the whole of their specifications published since the reign of King James I. These publications are of incalculable value in a country where, as in this, it is so necessary to economise labour, and where inventive genius, ever active, requires to be instructed as to the failure of misdirected energy and the limits of discovery already reached; they are brought down, bound, to the end of the year 1871, and with the indexes and journals already reach 3861 volumes. The plans are all placed at the end of the letter-press, and open out clear beyond the volume, so as to enable the reader to peruse the specification and examine the plan without interruption; they are strained on strong linen, well let in to the backs of the books. More than 45,000 yards of this material have been employed by the binders. The country already possesses two complete sets of this work; one lies in the library of the Houses of Parliament, neither arranged nor bound, and accessible only to those who enjoy the exclusive privilege of membership; the other in the office of Patents, for the use of the officers of that department. Thus the community at large derive comparatively little benefit primarily from the liberality of the Commissioners. In this Library, brought down to so late a date, the Public in general have opportunities of unrestricted consultation of the whole series, and such publicity is given to the results of speculative invention in the mother country, as to preclude the possibility of successful plagiarism or piracy of the protected ideas of others.

The Boards of Trade and of Education gave a comprehensive series of their publications. The Trustees of the British Museum all the books issued by their authority, together with a facsimile of the Old Testament from the Alexandrine Codex, 6 volumes folio—a noble present, suggested by the courteous attention of the librarian, Mr. Panizzi.

Lord Russell, when Minister for Foreign Affairs, was pleased to allow Mr. Hertslet, of the Foreign Office, to collect for presentation a selection of State papers, in 146 volumes, not usually procurable except through such influence. To these, and others not specifically enumerated here, for which the Trustees have already specially expressed their thanks, are to be superadded copies of the Votes and Proceedings of the Houses of Lords and Commons, comprised in nearly 2,000 volumes, which the public owe in the first instance to the high consideration of Lord Redesdale and Mr. Speaker, then Mr. Denison, now Lord Ossington ; and, also, the voluminous labours of the Record Commission and the Rolls publications, in 183 volumes, many in folio and quarto of large size. The latter throw upon English and European history some of the most important lights discovered in modern times. For them the public are indebted to the bounty of Lord Romilly, the Master of the Rolls.

From the Governor General and the Governors of the various presidencies of India, a valuable mass of local records, reports and documents, in 545 volumes, has been received, bearing upon the culture of various products capable of being grown in this country, and on many branches of commercial industry,

The Governments of the several colonies of Australasia have liberally presented copies of the Statutes passed by their respective Legislatures, as also Parliamentary papers, reports, and other official documents, all important for reference, and for the purpose of allowing the institution of comparison as regards the rise and social development of the different communities.

The serial literature presented has been in the majority of cases continued to the present date ; and, as far as the means at their disposal permit, exchanges of publications issued by the authority of the Government of Victoria, and literature relating to her progress and interests, are made with such Governments and Societies as desire to sustain such a mutually advantageous correspondence. To private donors also the Trustees are deeply indebted for numerous and varied contributions.

In order to impress upon the contributors—to whom the Trustees are so much beholden—an assurance that their bounty is thoroughly appreciated by the public, their attention is invited to the returns (given in the Schedules) of the readers in the Library during the 17 years it has been in existence.

These persons have been, and now are, allowed to partake of the privilege of admission—without card or letter of recommendation—daily, from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m., and to take from the shelves any book, without obstruction or restrictions, save those enjoined by the few and simple rules, also set out there.

It will be seen that as the accommodation was enlarged, and the books increased in number, so was the number of readers augmented. While it may be stated, as most gratifying facts, that the multiplication of readers has brought forth a steady demand, recorded in the suggestion book, for a high order of literatuure; that the conduct of visitors has been generally exemplary; and that the instances of injury to the property have been few, entailing slight pecuniary loss. These too have diminished in frequency, and in money's worth, in each year of the development of the Institution. Such results, which have flowed from the perfect freedom of administration, and the honourable confidence reposed in those who use the books, will establish a well-grounded belief that the Donations have been worthily bestowed.
